He completed his M.C.A. and M.Phil. degrees and has qualified NET. He has 11 years of teaching experience and is currently working as Assistant Professor and Head of the Department of Computer Science at Loyola College, Mettala. His area of specialization is Image Processing. A committed academician, he takes on several academic and administrative responsibilities, and is dedicated to motivating and mentoring students, particularly those from rural backgrounds.